Taxation in Germany

The following is a general discussion of certain German tax consequences of the acquisition and ownership of the Notes. It does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all tax considerations, which may be relevant to a decision to purchase or to dispose of the Notes, and, in particular, does not consider any specific facts or circumstances that may apply to a particular purchaser. This summary is based on the laws, regulations and decrees of Germany currently in effect and as applied on the date of release of these Final Terms, which are subject to change, possibly with retroactive or retrospective effect. Prospective purchasers of the Notes are advised to consult their own tax advisors as to the tax consequences of the purchase, ownership and disposition of the Notes, including the effect of any state or local taxes, under the tax laws of Germany and each country of which they are residents.

Tax Residents

In Germany, a final taxation (Abgeltungsteuer) on all capital income at an amount of 25 per cent plus solidarity surcharge of 5.5 per cent thereon, resulting in a total final taxation of 26.375 per cent is in effect. This final tax (Abgeltungsteuer) will also be levied on all revenues from sale or redemption of investments, including those from notes and other securities. A certain holding period, the granting of interest payment or a capital guarantee will be not decisive for taxation purposes. Generally, this final taxation applies to persons who are tax residents of Germany (i.e., persons whose residence, habitual abode, statutory seat, or place of effective management and control is located in Germany) and who are therefore subject to German income tax (plus solidarity surcharge (Solidaritätszuschlag) at a rate of 5.5 per cent thereon). In most cases the final tax will be withheld when the capital income is paid to the Noteholder.

However, capital gains are subject to the regular tax of up to 45% plus solidarity surcharge of 5.5 per cent thereon if, inter alia, the Notes form part of the property of a German trade or business. The capital income might then also be subject to trade tax. In general, a withholding tax will be levied if the Notes form part of the property of a German trade or business or give rise to income from the letting and leasing of property. In such case, withholding tax and the solidarity surcharge thereon are in general credited as prepayments against the German personal or corporate income tax and the solidarity surcharge liability of the German resident. Amounts over-withheld will entitle the holder of a Note to a refund, based on an assessment to tax.

In general, no withholding tax will be levied if a withholding exemption certificate (Freistellungsauftrag) with the Disbursing Agent has been filed but only to the extent the interest income derived from the Note together with other investment income does not exceed the maximum exemption amount shown on the withholding exemption certificate. Similarly, no withholding tax will be deducted if the holder of the Note has submitted to the Disbursing Agent a certificate of non-assessment (Nichtveranlagungsbescheinigung) issued by the relevant local tax office.

Non-residents

Capital gains are not subject to German taxation, unless, inter alia, (i) the Notes form part of the business property of a permanent establishment, including a permanent representative, or a fixed base maintained in Germany by the holder of a Note; or (ii) the interest income otherwise constitutes German-source income (such as income from the letting and leasing of certain German-situs property). In the latter case a tax regime similar to that explained above under "Tax Residents" applies.

Even though non-residents of Germany are, in general, exempt from German taxation on capital income, a withholding tax may be levied, depending on the circumstances, which may then be refunded based upon an applicable tax treaty.

Inheritance and Gift Tax

No inheritance or gift taxes with respect to any Note will arise under the laws of Germany, if, in the case of inheritance tax, neither the decedent nor the beneficiary, or, in the case of gift tax, neither the donor nor the donee, is a resident of Germany and such Note is not attributable to a German trade or business for which a permanent establishment is maintained, or a permanent representative has been appointed, in Germany. Exceptions from this rule apply to certain German expatriates.

Other Taxes

No stamp, issue, registration or similar taxes or duties will be payable in Germany in connection with the issuance, delivery or execution of the Notes. Currently, net assets tax is not levied in Germany.
