

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASECrédit Agricole CIB Appoints Romina Reversi as Head of Sustainable Banking for the Americas

New York, New York – September 14, 2021 – Crédit Agricole CIB is pleased to announce the appointment of Romina Reversi as Head of Sustainable Banking for the Americas, effective September 13, 2021. In this role, she will further develop Crédit Agricole CIB's sustainable finance footprint and product range across the Americas.

With more than a decade of capital markets experience across debt, equity, and derivatives, Romina joins Crédit Agricole CIB from J.P. Morgan, where she was responsible for structuring sustainable debt transactions for issuers globally and leading dialogue with ESG focused investors. Romina is an active member of and contributor to the Green and Social Bond Principles and its various working groups, including the New Markets Taskforce and the Sustainability-Linked Bonds Working Group.

Based in New York, Romina will report globally to Tanguy Claquin, Global Head of Sustainable Banking, and regionally to Stéphane Publie, Head of Coverage & Investment Banking Americas.

Tanguy Claquin, Global Head of Sustainable Banking, commented on the appointment: "We are delighted to welcome Romina to Crédit Agricole CIB. As the Sustainable market continues to grow in all areas, Romina will be instrumental in helping us achieve our ambitious objectives in the Americas."

Stéphane Publie, Head of Coverage & Investment Banking Americas, added: "We are very pleased to welcome Romina as the new head of our ESG team for the Americas. Thanks to her dynamism and solid experience, Crédit Agricole CIB will continue and expand its mission along the ESG lines with all of its clients."
